The Farmer's Sons

An earnest farmer had three sons who quarreled constantly. Toward the end of his life, he hoped to restore their friendship. He asked one son to bring him a bundle of sticks; each son tried and failed to break it. The farmer then pulled the bundle apart, handing each son a branch, which snapped easily. "Let this be a lesson," he said, "if you are divided, you are weakened. There is strength in unity."

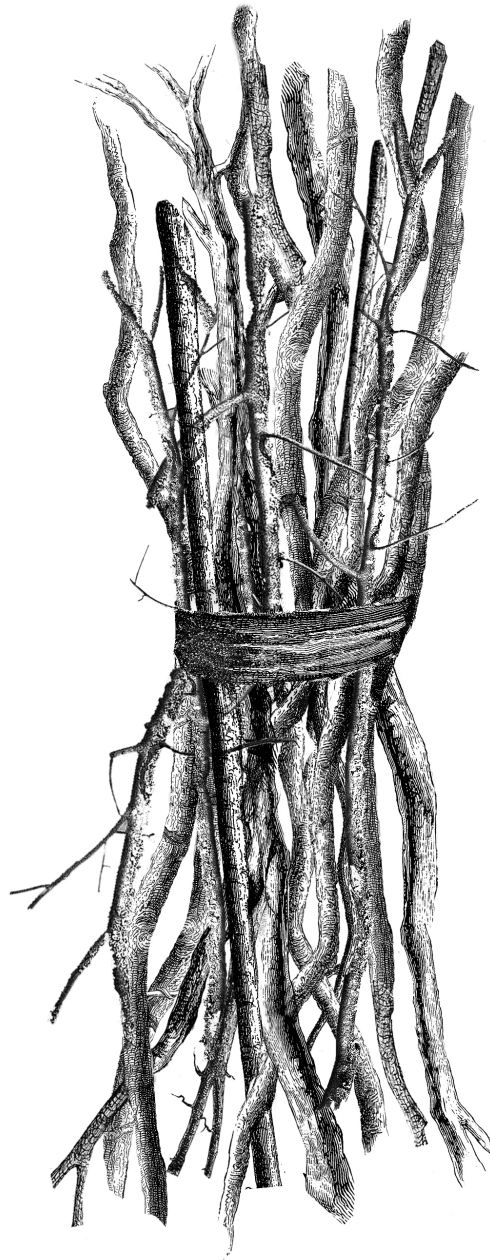

This fable is all about the power of synergy. If you work together, you'll be stronger than if you work independently. The Fableist depends on the partnership of Andrew and Curt, but it's not just them — it's the entire team that makes this happen. We blend different vineyard sites and embrace the nuances of each one to make a more complex wine.

Winemaking

These grapes were sent directly to press whole cluster and underwent three different fermentation methods. 1. Neutral barrel fermentation 2. Stainless steel + sur lie fermentation 3. Cold crashed, stainless steel fermentation without lees contact. Aged in 100% stainless steel for retention of freshness.

Tasting Notes

The Fableist Sauvignon Blanc greets you with a mix of gooseberries, feijoa, wet river rock and apricot blossom on the nose. Thirst quenching acidity, but full finish with notes of pineapple and bee pollen. Drink by the case.
